

Carole has a BA degree in French and Spanish. After graduating she embarked on a career in the French steel industry, becoming Head of Sales Development for the UK markets, before she undertook a further degree in Management Studies. During a sabbatical she found herself a passage on a French barge and fell in love with the lifestyle and the country. Life aboard river vessels on the Seine, Oise, Marne and Rhone offered her the chance to explore and further research certain riverside locations linked to art, which helped develop in-depth knowledge, and for more than ten years Carole has been a guide and lecturer on combined history and art tours in France. In the UK, in addition to working as a lecturer, she acts as a guide to privately owned stately homes.